

Resources Available to States

Technical Assistance and Services

- On-site technical assistance and resources to enhance the capacity to develop, implement and sustain prevention-focused child death review programs.
- On-site training for state and local teams.
- Phone consultation for state and local teams.
- Strategic planning and program development for state and local teams.
- Consultation on coordinating review processes such as FIMR, domestic violence, SIDS and maternal mortality.
- Linkages of CDR programs to state and national resources, programs and policies in child health, injury prevention, and child protection.
- Resources, expertise and information in areas related to child deaths.
- CDR resource exhibits at state and national meetings.

Print and Web-Based Materials

- The National Child Death Review Program Manual
- Guides to Effective Reviews (by cause of death)
- CDR training curricula
- Descriptions of 49 state CDR programs and CDR state contacts
- Tools for organizing and maintaining an effective review team
- Sample interagency and confidentiality agreements
- CDR legislation checklist
- Mortality data for all 50 states and the U.S.
- State child death review reports
- Comprehensive information on the causes of child deaths
- Comprehensive information on prevention resources and links to experts and organizations
- Listserv that reaches state child death review coordinators and leaders
- Website with information and links to assist child death review teams
- State profiles database with comprehensive information on child death review programs in the U.S.
- Links to grief and bereavement and family support materials
- Links to child death investigation, resources and procedures

The CDR Case Reporting System*

- Free software for the web-based reporting system, that allows for local and state data entry, data access, data downloads and standardized aggregate reports.
- Designated state administrators and/or the NCFRP can manage user accounts for the state, including adding users, resetting passwords, and unlocking timed out accounts.
- Training, technical assistance and Help Desk support in the use of the software.
- Hosting of the server for data storage.
- Printed copies of the case report tool.
- Teleconferencing support for first year data users for software evaluation and improvements.
- Support in migration of prior CDR state data into the new system.

*All users in a state of the case reporting system must be approved by the appropriate state administration and adhere to the data use agreement developed between the NCFRP and the participating state.

To Request Resources and/or Services

Contact us at the National Center for Fatality Review and Prevention: info@ncfrp.org or call us at (800) 656-2434.